454 Sequencing Systems The Proven Solution For Pathogen

The 454 method can sequence fragments of DNA equivalent to up to one billion bases, in a single day (that's a 1/3 of the human genome). It is much cheaper and faster than the methods used to sequence DNA in the Human Genome Project.

Roche 454 sequencing can sequence much longer reads than Illumina. Like Illumina, it does this by sequencing multiple reads at once by reading optical signals as bases are added. As in Illumina, the DNA or RNA is fragmented into shorter reads, in this case up to 1kb. Generic adaptors are added to the ends and these are annealed to beads, one DNA fragment per bead. The fragments are then amplified by PCR using adaptor-specific primers.

2. Roche 454 System. Roche 454 was the first commercially successful next generation system. This sequencer uses pyrosequencing technology . Instead of using dideoxynucleotides to terminate the chain amplification, pyrosequencing technology relies on the detection of pyrophosphate released during nucleotide incorporation.
